On show, popular contemporary artists and some emerging talent

After a successful group show in May, Villano6 is bringing another collection of Pakistani contemporary art for connoisseurs in the Emirates.

This collection, entitled Horizons Within not only includes works of some of the last exhibition's favourite artists but will also showcase the paintings of exciting new talent never before seen in the UAE.

Organized by www.villano6.com at the 4 Walls Art Gallery in Al Quoz, Dubai, the four-day exhibition will run from October 18-21, 2008.

"There is no dearth of new talent in Pakistan," said Omer Alvie, creative director of www.villano6.com and curator of the exhibition.

"The growing interest in Pakistani art globally is a result of exceptional art being produced by Pakistani artists. The work is not only beautiful but socially and politically relevant, which makes it even more exciting for a new audience to view and experience," he added.

In addition to popular contemporary artists such as Qamar, Salman Farooqi, and Rabia Dawood, who have garnered critical and commercial success both within and outside Pakistan, the work of emerging new artists will be also be on display at the exhibition.

Amongst the new names is artist Ali Akbar, an exemplary practitioner of contemporary miniature art; Saqiba Haq, one of the country's most promising young female artists; calligrapher Arfeen, an increasingly popular self-taught artist, and Irfan Haider, a remarkable new artist who's fast making a name for himself throughout the country.

"This exhibition is a perfect example of the high quality comprising Pakistani art today. It is a very exciting time. The interest in and demand for Pakistani art will be further nurtured and enhanced through exciting exhibitions such as this one," concluded Alvie.
